

UNIVERSAL OPENNESS

Magdalene writes in her Memoirs . . .

“Though physically exhausted, I felt disposed to go to serve Him even at the North Pole if it were necessary.”

MEMOIRS Chapter 13, No°14

“Almost every time I heard, during Mass, the Gospel text which reads: “Euntes in universum mundum”, without knowing why, I was deeply moved and filled with consolation. Although I do not cry easily, my eyes would fill with tears.”

MEMOIRS Chapter 1, No °28

“Love overcame this feeling and I thought that God wanted to prepare me for a long journey in order to perform some works in a remote corner of the world, where I would have to practice a special detachment.”

MEMOIRS Chapter 15, No °11

“This view of Christ’s love for people not only grieved me, for I saw that He is not loved, but it also gave me a great longing to make Him known and loved; so much so that nothing else mattered, not even my country nor my relatives.”

MEMOIRS Chapter 3, No °49

“In fact, I wished I could be reduced to dust if, in that way, I could be scattered to all parts of the world so that God would be known and loved.”
